2.3.5 Continual mentoring is provided by teachers for developing Professional attributes in students

MENTOR MENTEE MEETING

Date: 09/11/2023

The mentor and mentee meeting at Indhira College of Education was a fruitful and productive session. The mentor provided guidance and support to the mentee, helping them set goals and develop a plan to achieve them. They discussed the mentee's academic progress, challenges they were facing, and strategies to overcome them. The mentor also offered valuable advice on building relationships with peers and faculty, as well as tips for success in the education field.

Minutes

The meeting began with the mentor and mentee introducing themselves and discussing the purpose of their collaboration. The mentor emphasized the importance of open communication and trust in their relationship, encouraging the mentee to share any concerns or difficulties they may be experiencing.

They then reviewed the mentee's academic goals and discussed specific steps to achieve them. The mentor provided guidance on effective time management strategies, study habits, and resources available at the college to support the mentee's learning.

The mentor also shared personal experiences and insights from their own education journey, offering encouragement and motivation to the mentee. They discussed the importance of networking and professional development in the B.Ed and M.Ed programme, and the mentor offered guidance on how to build a strong professional network.

Format for Individual SWOT Analysis

Strengths:

1. My strong work ethic and dedication give me a competitive advantage in the workplace.

2. I have access to valuable resources such as online courses and training programs to enhance my skills.

3. The projects I have worked on have received positive feedback and are performing well.

Weaknesses:

1. I can improve my time management skills to meet deadlines more efficiently.

2. There are certain projects that I struggle with and underperform on compared to others.

3. I lack resources in terms of mentorship and guidance in certain areas of my work.

Opportunities:

1. Exploring new technology such as project management software can help streamline my workflow.

2. There is potential to expand my skill set and take on more challenging projects to grow professionally.

3. Testing new segments or industries can provide me with diverse experiences and opportunities for growth.

Threats:

1. Changing regulations in my industry may impact the way I approach my work or the projects I can take on.

2. Competitors may offer similar services or skills, making it important for me to differentiate myself in the market.

3. Shifting consumer trends may require me to adapt and stay updated on industry developments to remain competitive.